ECLIPSES.

IN the year 1871, there will be two Eclipses of the Sun, and two of the Moon.

I. A partial Eclipse of the Moon, on the 6th of First Month. The greater portion of this eclipse occurs before sunset, consequently invisible; but the last contact with the shadow may be observed at New York 5h. 51m.; Philadelphia 5h. 46m.; Baltimore 5h. 40m.; Cincinnati 5h. 31m.; in the evening.

II. An annular Eclipse of the Sun, on the 17th of Sixth Month, invisible on this Continent; visible in the East India Islands and South Pacific Ocean.

III. A partial Eclipse of the Moon, on the 2d of Seventh Month, commencing after sunrise, consequently invisible.

IV. A total Eclipse of the Sun, on the 11th of Twelfth Month, invisible in America. The line of central and total Eclipse begins in lat.  $19^{\circ} 5' N.$ , and long.  $61^{\circ} 16' E.$ , passes southeastwardly through the Indian Ocean, touching the southern part of Hindostan and the northern part of Australia, then northeastwardly through the Pacific Ocean, and ends in lat.  $0^{\circ} 27' N.$ , and long.  $177^{\circ} 54' W.$

NOTES TO THE READER.

I. The astronomical calculations in this work are made to true clock time. The effects of Refraction, according to the latest improved Tables of Bessel, and the Equation of Time, have both been applied to the times of the Sun's rising and setting; so that the Almanac and a good Clock will agree the year round.

II. A Time-piece may be set very nearly true by the rising, setting, or southing of the Sun, Moon, or Stars; but more accurately by the Sun (or the southing of the Sun, or a fixed Star), anywhere on or near the 40th degree of north latitude.

III. The time of the rising, setting, or southing of a fixed Star, may be carried several days forward by subtracting, or backward by adding 4 minutes per day.

IV. The common day of 24 hours begins at midnight, and morning (marked morn.) continues from midnight till noon; and afternoon (marked aft.) continues from noon till midnight. This should be remembered carefully when looking for the times of the rising, setting, or southing of the Moon or Stars soon after midnight.

VENUS.

Venus will be Evening Star until the 22d of Ninth Month, after which it will be Morning Star the remainder of the year. It will be at its greatest brilliancy on the 20th of Eighth Month, and 1st of Eleventh Month.

MERCURY.

Mercury will be brightest about the 8th of Second Month, 7th of Sixth Month, and 30th of Ninth Month, at which times it will likely be visible, being then in the east just before sunrise. It will again be brightest about the 4th of First Month, 26th of Fourth Month, 24th of Eighth Month, and 17th of Twelfth Month, when it will be in the west immediately after sunset.

NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE CO. See page 15.

See page 62. RISING, SETTING, AND SOUTHING OF THE PLANETS.

It should be observed that these are not sensibly affected by the longitude of a place. When the hour is less than six, it is in the morning; when greater than six, it is in the evening.

PRACTICAL MANUFACTURER OF FINE

Silver Plated Ware,

Would respectfully announce to his patrons that he has a full stock of the latest styles of

Double and Treble Electro-Plated Ware,

all of his own plating—plated on Nickel and White Metals, suitable for family or city trade; consisting in part of

Tea Sets, Chased and Plain,	Oyster and Soup Tureens,
Coffee Urns,	Celery and Pickle Castors,
Water Coolers,	Sugar and Creams,
Ice Pitchers,	Frames,
Cake Baskets,	Card Receivers,
Dinner and Tea Castors,	Bouquet Holders,
Butter Dishes,	Waiters,
Berry and Fruit Stands,	Spoons and Forks,
Communion Sets, &c.

As the quality of Plating can only be known to the plater, the purchaser must rely on the manufacturer's statement; there being so much worthless ware in the market, all represented as treble plate, at prices impossible to be manufactured.

S. K. SMYTH takes this mode of informing his patrons, that all goods sold by him are what they are represented to be, as his goods have been in the market for a number of years, and well known in the city. All his goods are marked S. K. SMYTH.

Call and examine the goods before purchasing elsewhere.

GEORGE FOX,
The founder of the Society of Friends, was born in 1624 at Drayton, in Leicestershire, England. His father was a weaver, and by the strict honesty of his conduct had won from his neighbors the sobriquet of "Righteous Christer." George, while yet a boy, was distinguished by his gravity and exemplary conduct. When in the twentieth year of his age, and for some two or three years afterwards, Fox describes himself as having been in a very distressed state of mind, from which the various professors and clergymen to whom he applied for counsel were unable to relieve him. From this condition he was at length delivered by that which he regarded as the voice of God in his soul, directing him to Christ as alone able to "speak to his condition." Very soon after this he commenced his public ministrations at Dukinfield, Manchester, and the neighborhood. From the first, his preaching seems to have made many converts and ex-

SAVERY'S PATENT

COMBINED DINING ROOM Water Cooler and Refrigerator.

This article has been in use the past two years, and found invaluable for the preservation of provisions of all kinds in warm weather, giving them no disagreeable smell or taste, furnishing cool drinking-water at the same time, and acknowledged by all to be just the article long required, and indispensable for the comfort and health of the household. The above cut will enable those interested to understand their construction.

Circulars, prices, and testimonials sent to those requiring them. They can be had of any responsible House Furnishing Store.

PRINDLE'S AGRICULTURAL STEAMER AND CALDRON.

By the use of Steamed Food dairymen admit the increase of one-third in milk, and no waste of fodder.

A Western house writes us: "We have been using a No. 2 Prindle Steamer for one month, steaming shipstuff from the mill, during which time we have fattened fifty hogs more rapidly than any hogs we have ever fed, with less than half the cost."

The Prindle Steamer can be had from the subscribers, or from any responsible dealer in the United States. It is always successful when it has a good draft; sets near the work to be done, and has plenty of water at hand to wet the food. Its safety, even in unskilled hands, is beyond a doubt. One hundred have lately been sold to a house in San Francisco.

Prize Essays (a book of 64 pages), giving full information on the subject of Cooked and Cooking Food for Stock, are forwarded, postage paid, on receipt of 10 cents.

cited much opposition. Fox's first imprisonment took place in the year 1648, in consequence of his opposing the preacher in "the great steeple-house at Nottingham," on a point of doctrine. In 1650, he was imprisoned at Derby under a false charge of blasphemy. One of the committing justices, Bennet, acted with great violence on this occasion, and it was he who, on Fox's bidding him "tremble at the word of the Lord," first applied to him and his friends the name of Quakers. Fox lay in prison at Derby for about a year, the time having been lengthened in consequence of his refusal to accept a commission as captain of one of the regiments then being raised by Parliament. To his belief of the unlawfulness of all war, which prompted this refusal, was added at the same time a clear view of the enormity of the punishment of death for crimes affecting property only, and he exerted himself to save the life of a poor woman then in jail for theft. Within ten years of Fox's first appearance as a preacher, meetings of the Friends were established in most parts of England. At the same time, so actively were they persecuted, that for many years there were seldom less than a thousand of them in prison. Cromwell, though himself favorable to liberty of conscience, seems to have been unable to curb the excesses of popular hostility launched in all quarters against a sect which denounced all state interference with religion, and maintained that the Gospel should be preached without fee or reward. Fox had several interviews with the Protector, having been first sent to him as a dangerous person, by Colonel Hacker, in 1654. After much conversation with him at Whitehall on the subject of religion, Fox was about to leave, when Cromwell caught him by the hand, saying: "Come again to my house; for if thou and I were but an hour of a day together, we should be nearer one to the other;" adding that he wished him "no more ill than he did to his own soul." Captain Drury, who had taken Fox to London, was commissioned to tell him that he was at liberty, and might go whither he would. About a month after the restoration of Charles II, Fox was committed to Lancaster Castle, "on the charge of being a common disturber of the peace, and of endeavoring to make insurrection and embroil the whole kingdom in blood." After lying in jail some months, a habeas corpus was obtained, and the authorities showed their disbelief of these grave charges by allowing Fox himself, unbailed and unguarded, to convey to London the sheriff's return to the writ. The hopes entertained by the members of the young society that they would be allowed a breathing-time from persecution, were dispelled at the commencement of 1661, by the atrocious measures which followed the mad attempt of Venner and his Fifth-Monarchy men. The Act empowering magistrates to tender the oaths of allegiance and supremacy to any person whom they thought fit to suspect, also operated with great severity against the Friends: under its provisions Fox was committed to prison at Lancaster in the beginning of 1664, whence he was removed to Scarborough Castle, where he lay till the autumn of 1666. His treatment during the greater part of this incarceration of nearly three years seems to have been most inhuman, and to have seriously affected his health. After his release, Fox turned his attention more closely to the internal regulation of the now large society, and to the subject of education, recommending his friends to establish schools for the instruction of their children in "whatsoever things were civil and useful in the creation." In 1669, Fox married Margaret Fell, the widow of one of the judges of the Welsh courts. The year 1670 witnessed the passing of the most stringent of the conventicle acts, forbidding under heavy penalties the assembling for religious worship, in any house, of more than four persons besides the family, except according to the usages of the Church of England. As a society, the Friends seem to have stood almost alone in their refusal to comply with it, and the pains and penalties of the law consequently fell principally upon them. Fox exhorted his friends to firmness, and himself remained in London, to share with their sufferings—attending the meeting in Gracechurch Street, where it was expected the storm would first fall. Soon after his recovery from a severe illness he sailed for Barbadoes, where he exerted himself greatly in the interests of religion and humanity. It is interesting to trace in his narrative of this journey the germ of that antislavery principle which has since been so conspicuous in his successors. It was whilst in this island that Fox drew up a statement of his own and his friends' belief in all the great doctrines of Christianity—a statement clearly disproving their alleged sympathy with Socinian tenets. After a considerable time spent in Barbadoes, Jamaica, and the North American continent, he returned to England in 1673. Here further persecutions awaited him. Arrested for holding a meeting for worship, and detained for refusing to take the oaths of allegiance and supremacy, he underwent fourteen months' imprisonment, and was at length liberated by the Court of King's Bench on account of the errors in his indictment. In 1677, in company with Penn and Barclay, who had joined the Society about ten years before, he paid a visit to Holland and some parts of Germany, where his services seem to have been well received. The last fifteen years of his life were tranquil as regards personal molestation, but he continued to be actively engaged in various ways in promoting the welfare of his brethren. Their persecutions continued throughout the reign of Charles II; and although James, by a stretch of the royal prerogative, ordered a general release of those imprisoned for conscience sake, the legal toleration of dissent was reserved for the next reign. In the first year of William and Mary was passed the bill which nullified the conventicle acts, and allowed the Friends to make a solemn declaration in lieu of taking the oaths, and Fox had the gratification of seeing the public worship of the Society legally recognized before his death. Died 1690. In person, Fox was tall; in countenance, manly, intelligent, and graceful; and in manners, says Wm. Penn, "evil beyond all forms of breeding." Fox's services in the Christian church will be variously estimated, according to the opinions formed of those principles and practices on which he was the first in modern times to insist, and which have now for 200 years distinguished the Society of Friends. The man himself must, however, be acknowledged by all to have furnished a noble example of unflinching integrity. Never would he barter an iota of what he regarded as the Christian truth, to secure immunity from ridicule and persecution. On religious liberty, slavery, the treatment of prisoners, capital punishment, &c., his sentiments were far in advance of the age; while in regard to oaths and war, there has been a considerable approximation to his views in later times. All that he did and wrote is not to be defended, neither did he himself, nor do his followers in religious profession, regard him as other than a fallible mortal; yet in that progress of opinion, which so often rubs the gilt from the tinsel, while it polishes the diamond, we are fain to believe that on a more faithful page than that of the prejudiced historian—in the hearts of the lowly and sincere—will a place of honor be more and more freely accorded to the memory of George Fox.—(From Zell's Encyclopedia.)

FRIENDS, OR "QUAKERS."

The Religious Society of Friends, from its rise under George Fox in the seventeenth century, has always maintained its belief in the divine authority of the Holy Scriptures, acknowledging them to be the only fit outward test of Christian doctrines. They do not call them the Word of God, because this appellation, they believe, is applied by the writers of the Scriptures to that eternal power by which the worlds were made.

Immediate Revelation.—The highest privilege granted to man is that of holding communion with the Author of his being; there can be no saving knowledge of Christ but from immediate revelation.

SEWING MACHINE,

Is now admitted to be far superior to all others as a Family Machine. The SIMPLICITY, EASE, and CERTAINTY, with which it operates, as well as the uniform excellence of its work, throughout the entire range of sewing, in

Stitching,
Hemming,

Felling,
Tucking,

Cording,
Braiding,

Quilting, Gathering and Sewing on, Embroidering on the Edge, Overseaming, and its beautiful Button-Hole,

Place it unquestionably far in advance of any other similar invention. It is also admirably adapted to MANUFACTURING PURPOSES on WOOLLEN, COTTON, and LINEN FABRICS.

For Dress and Shirt Making and Tailoring, it has no equal.

We have also for sale our "PLAIN AMERICAN." This is a beautiful and light manufacturing machine, capable of doing all that the "Combination" will do except the Overseaming and Button-hole work. It has no superior as a "Plain Sewer" in the market. It is remarkably simple in construction, reliable, and light running.

In the approved writings of Friends, there is a clear distinction observed between the Divine Light, which is the medium, and the conscience, which is the organ of spiritual perception. It is the doctrine of Friends that the light of Divine truth, or Spirit of Christ, appears to all men; to the wicked he comes as a reprover for sin, but to the obedient as a comforter in righteousness.

The Original and Present State of Man. It is a Scriptural doctrine, among Friends, that neither righteousness nor unrighteousness can be transmitted by inheritance, but every man will be judged "according to his deeds."

The Divine Being.—The unity, omnipresence, omniscience, and omnipotence of God, the only fountain of wisdom and goodness, are fully set forth in the Scriptures of both the Old and the New Testament. . . . "I, even I, am the Lord, and besides me there is no saviour." . . . In the Sermon on the Mount,

Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co.

921 Chestnut St., Philada.

Accumulated Fund,

$3,500,000.

$1,200,000.

Income for 1870,

The PENN MUTUAL was incorporated in 1847. It is the Only Purely Mutual Life Insurance Company now doing business chartered by the State of Pennsylvania. The Penn Mutual, having no stockholders to absorb the earnings of the company, has, by economical management, been enabled to declare twenty-three dividends, averaging more than those of any other company in the country.

Our expenses are below the average of Life Companies. This is fairly attributable to the age of the Company, the low rate of mortality, due to the great care in the selection of lives, and to the fact that so large a proportion of the Policy Holders are members of the Society of Friends, who have always been largely represented in the Board of Trustees.

Policies issued on all the approved plans. Every Policy Holder is a member of the Company, entitled to all its advantages, has the right to vote at all elections for Trustees, and thus participate in its management.

Premiums may be paid annually, semi-annually, or quarterly.

SAMUEL C. HUEY, President.

SAMUEL E. STOKES, Vice-President.

JOHN W. HORNOR, A. V. P. and Actuary.

H. S. STEPHENS, Secretary.

we are taught to address the Most High by the endearing appellation of our Father in Heaven, and to place our trust in Him alone who feeds the fowls of the air and clothes the lilies of the field. That spiritual influence by which the Most High communicates his will to man is called His Word. The term Christ is applied by the apostles to the Spirit of God as manifested in man. It is written that "when the fullness of time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons, and because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying Abba, Father." (Gal. iv, 4.) The Spirit of God and the Spirit of Christ are the same, as further appears by the following text: "Ye are not in the flesh, but in the spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now, if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his." (Rom. viii, 9.) The most full and glorious manifestation of the Divine Word, or Logos, was in Jesus Christ, the immaculate Son of God, who, according to the Scriptures, was miraculously conceived and born of a virgin. In him the manhood was entirely subject to the Divinity. "He took not on him the nature of angels, but he took on him the seed of Abraham." There was in him no corruption, and the spirit of evil had no power over him. Being "in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin" (Heb. iv, 15), "a man approved of God by miracles, wonders, and signs, which God did by him." (Acts ii, 22.) His powerful preaching, his wonderful miracles, his patience under suffering, and his triumphant resurrection, are to be attributed to the Divine Word, or "Spirit of the Lord," which dwelt in him, for he said: "The Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works." (John xiv, 10.) The Divinity of Christ is his life and light—the indwelling of Divine power—the Word or Spirit which was and is manifested in him, and which through him gives life to all his members, for it "pleased the Father that in him should all fulness dwell," and "of his fulness have we all received, and grace for grace." The life is often called, in the Scriptures, the blood, for "the blood is the life," or "the life is in the blood," and as in the natural body the blood conveys nourishment to every part and sustains life in it, so in the spiritual body, every living member is sustained by the life or blood of the Son of God. "To us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him." (1 Cor. viii, 6.) As Moses was a mediator, to ordain the legal dispensation (Gal. iii, 19), so Jesus Christ was and is the mediator of the New Covenant: first, to proclaim and exemplify it in the day of his outward advent, and secondly, through all time in the ministrations of his spirit.

Salvation by Christ.—The great work of the Messiah for the salvation of the world is beautifully portrayed in the passage which he read from Isaiah in the synagogue at Nazareth. "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me because he hath anointed me to preach the Gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord." "And he began to say unto them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears." (Luke iv, 18-21.) He came to establish a spiritual kingdom of Truth and Love in the hearts of mankind, and thereby to put an end to the kingdom of evil. Then was laid the foundation on which succeeding generations have built, and no moral reform of value or permanency can take place unless it be founded on Christian principles. It is the life of God, or "Spirit of Truth," revealed in the soul, that purifies and saves from sin. When Jesus told the people, "Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you," he did not allude to the flesh and blood of his outward body, but to the life and power of God which dwelt in him and spake through him.

Regeneration.—It was declared by our Lord, "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." (John iii, 3.) This new birth is the development of the spiritual nature in man through the operation of the Holy Spirit, and it is subsequent to that of the carnal nature, for "that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual." (1 Cor. xv, 46.) There is implanted in every soul a germ of divine life, compared by the blessed Jesus to a grain of mustard-seed, which is among the smallest of seeds. By yielding obedience to the gentle intimations of Divine grace, or to those stronger convictions, called "the reproofs of instruction which are the way of life," a vital change takes place.

Christian Perfection is neither more nor less than unreserved obedience to the divine will, through perfect love to God, which preserves the soul from the practice of sinning.

Baptism.—It appears to have been the great work of George Fox and the early Friends, to draw the attention of mankind from a reliance upon the outward form, to an experience of the inward power of religion. They believed that the kingdom of Christ is the reign of God established in the soul, and that his baptism and supper are not material, but spiritual; being the substance typified by the "divers washings" under the law, the water-baptism of John, and the Jewish passover.

The principal testimonies of Friends are the following, viz.: A pure spiritual worship. A free gospel ministry. Religious liberty. A testimony against war; oaths; slavery; the use, as a beverage, of spirituous liquors; and against vain fashions, corrupting amusements, and flattering titles.—S. M. J.

Extracts from Rules of Discipline.—If any in membership with us shall blaspheme or speak profanely of Almighty God, Christ Jesus, or the Holy Spirit, he or she ought early to be tenderly treated with. . . . But should any persist in their error, or deny the divinity of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, the immediate revelation of the Holy Spirit, or the authenticity of the Scriptures, it is manifest they are not one in faith with us. . . . (p. 27.) We earnestly advise . . . the reading of the Scriptures, which set forth the miraculous conception, birth, holy life, wonderful works, blessed resurrection, ascension, and mediation of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, and that Friends educate their children in the belief of those important truths, as well as of the inward manifestation and operation of the Holy Spirit. ## Dictionary and Gazetteer,

Is now fast approaching completion. The price for the entire work, unbound, will still remain for a limited time as originally announced, namely, $25. As it has been found advisable to increase the size of the original work about 200 pages beyond the number at first proposed, those who purchase or subscribe NOW will get the benefit of this addition WITHOUT CHARGE; otherwise they will be obliged to pay for the same. This book is a complete and unabridged dictionary of the English Language, as good as the best, a Gazetteer of the World, and a more complete, newer, and fresher Encyclopedia than any now in print; the price is lower than that of any other Encyclopedia—and but a little above that charged for an Unabridged Dictionary or a Gazetteer alone—and being the latest, and begun and completed within the short space of two years,—not drawing through an unlimited number of years, as has always heretofore been the case with works of this magnitude—it must necessarily be by far the newest in point of information, as, for example, the article Napoleon is brought down to the present war, &c., and the populations are given either in accordance with recent State Census or that of the General Census of this year, or from other reliable information, and every pains taken to make the information given new and accurate.

IMPORTANT TO HOUSEKEEPERS!

A delightful Spring Bed within the reach of all.

MAKE YOUR OWN SPRING BEDS,

FLINN'S PATENT

SELF-FASTENING

AND ADJUSTABLE

BED SPRINGS.

The attention of Housekeepers is respectfully called to the above BED SPRINGS. They are simple in construction, easily applied to the headstead, make No Noise, afford No Harbor for Bugs, and for elasticity cannot be equalled. Each spring is Self-Fastening, and can be applied directly to the slats of the headstead without making holes or any other preparation, and being all complete in itself, needs not the attachment of any wood, iron, or leather work to fasten it to the headstead, or to connect it to the other springs. They are Superior to any Slut Spring Bed in the market, because they are simpler, more elastic, Do not Squeak, (as most slat spring beds do,) have no cracks or holes in which the Bed Bug can hide, and have No Slats to Break, or leathers to pull out. They are equal to the best upholstered Spring Beds, as they are exactly like them in the principle of action, being a spiral spring, (which is acknowledged to be the most elastic and strongest spring known,) and Superior to them, inasmuch as they are not covered with cloth, which collects Dust and Bugs; are much easier to handle, and cost only about One Half as much.

A single mattress is all that is required to cover them. A set will pack in the space of one foot square. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

From 3 to 5 Dozen make a Set.

THERE was organized in 1832, among Friends in England, an association for insuring the lives of Friends and others. The high character of its supporters and the incalculable good it has done, have won for it the confidence and liberal patronage of Friends and the public generally in that country. The existence of the institution and the benefits accomplished by it had long been known to Friends in this country. It was not, however, until 1865 that a similar institution was established here.

THE PROVIDENT LIFE & TRUST COMPANY

Is Managed wholly by Friends.

It has already issued policies amounting to Twelve Million Dollars. A very large proportion of the members of the Company are Friends. The remarkable longevity of Friends, the safe and profitable investment of the funds of the Company, and the economy practised in the management of its business, enable it to present advantages not excelled by any company in the United States. Persons contemplating insuring, or desiring information, are invited to apply in person or by letter to the office of the Company or to any of its Agents.
